I am against the proposal for automatic upgrade in license grade after a period of operating time has elapsed. I learned a great deal in studying the text material for upgrading to each license grade. Amateur Radio is expected to have a higher grade of expertise than just operating experience. Study to learn the technical techniques required for each license upgrade is very valuable. Amateur Radio is to advance skill in the art of wireless communication. It is a valuable source of training in the countries technical talent. I am also am an advocate for the CW code test. It forces one to improve his skill level not just in sending Morse Code, but in dedication, concentration and memory. Sincerely, A.
